INFORMATION REPORT INFORMATION REPORT

CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

This material contains information affecting the National Defense of the United States within the meaning of the Espionage Laws, Title 18, U.S.C. Secs. 793 and 794, the transmission or revelation of which in any manner to an unauthorised person is prohibited by law.

No. Of PAGES 1 No. Of PAGES 1					E-C-R-E-T		2	5 X 1
NO. OF PAGES 1 REQUIREMENT NO. RD REFERENCES This is UNEVALUATED Information SOURCE EVALUATIONS ARE DEFINITIVE. APPRAISAL OF CONTENT IS TENTATIVE. 1. On 17 February 1955 a combined meeting of the executive of the Writers' Union, the Party committee of the Union, and Central Committee member Dimitiff Genev was held in Sofia. The Party Central Committee called the meeting because of rumors of impending withdrawal of a large group of writers from the Union, along the participants at the meeting were Angel Karallychev; Radni Karcv, former Participants at the meeting were Angel Karallychev; Radni Karcv, former Participants at the meeting were Angel Karallychev; Radni Karcv, former Participants at the meeting were exercised by the Communist Party and the Party committee of the Union, and many writers expressed their fear of falling afoul of the customary censorship. The Party committee of the Union makes the first check by examining the work from the point of view of Communist ideology, following which it ascertains if the work contains any reference to fallures of the Party throughout the years or if there is any offensive material against the Party throughout the years or if there is any offensive material against the Party throughout the years or if there is any offensive material against the Party throughout the years, and his development. 3. Vetinov, who lead one group in the discussion, expressed himself in biting terms: "Bulgarian literature has failed because it is lending itself as a vehicle of propagands for a certain way of life," Another in his group stated that the Bulgarian writer had become the simple illustrator of the directives of the Party and the Covernment, thereby voiding current Bulgarian writings of any literary value. Kareslavov, who was nominated to act for the Union, was the only dissenter. 4. When the meeting was concluded, Ganev rose and said, "You are but evil gossipers," and left the meeting.	OUNTRY	Bul	lgaria		REPORT
ACE ACQUIRED ACE ACQUIRED SOURCE EVALUATIONS ARE DEFINITIVE. APPRAISAL OF CONTENT IS TENTATIVE. 1. On 17 February 1955 a combined meeting of the executive of the Writers' Union, the Party committee of the Union, and Central Committee member Dimitiff Ganev was held in Sofia. The Party Central Committee called the meeting because of rumors of impending withdrawal of a large group of writers from the Union, along the participents at the meeting were Angel Karallyohev; Rudni Karov, former Partisen and supporter of General Slavcho Trünski; Georgi Karaslavov, attorney for the Union; and Pavel Vetinov. 2. The discussion centered on the subject of the stringent cencorship exercised by the Communist Party and the Party committee of the Union, and many writers expressed their fear of falling afoul of the customary cencorship. The Party committee of the Union makes the first check by examining the work from the point of view of Communist ideology, following which it ascertains if the work contains any reference to failures of the Party throughout the years or if there is any offensive material against the Party leaders. The second stage is a check on the writer himself; his family origin, his past, and his development. 3. Vetinov, who lead one group in the discussion, expressed himself in biting terms: "Bulgarian literature has falled because it is lending itself as a vehicle of propagands for a certain way of life." Another in his group stated that the Bulgarian writer had become the simple illustrator of the directives of the Party and the Government, thereby volding current Bulgarian writings of any literary value. Earaslavov, who was nominated to act for the Union, was the only dissenter. 4. When the meeting was concluded, Ganev rose and said, "You are but evil gossipers," and left the meeting.	UBJECT	Мес	ting of	the Writers' Union	DATE DISTR.	9 May 1955	25X1
ACE ACQUIRED ACE ACQUIRED SOURCE EVALUATIONS ARE DEFINITIVE. APPRAISAL OF CONTENT IS TENTATIVE. 1. On 17 February 1955 a combined meeting of the executive of the Writers' Union, the Party committee of the Union, and Central Committee member Dimittle Genev was held in Sofia. The Party Central Committee called the meeting because of rumors of impending withdrawal of a large group of writers from the Union. Among the participants at the meeting were Angel Kareliyoher; Rudni Karov, former Partisan and supporter of General Slavcho Trünski; Georgi Karaslavov, attorney for the Union; and Pavel Vetinov. 2. The discussion centered on the subject of the stringent censorship exercised by the Communist Party and the Party committee of the Union, and many writers expressed their fear of falling afoul of the customary censorship. The Party committee of the Union makes the first check by examining the work from the point of view of Communist ideology, following which it ascertains if the work contains any reference to failures of the Party throughout the years or if there is any offensive material against the Party leaders. The second stage is a check on the writer himself; his family origin, his past, and his development. 3. Vetinov, who lead one group in the discussion, expressed himself in biting terms: "Bulgarian literature has falled because it is lending itself as a vehicle of propaganda for a certain way of life." Another in his group stated that the Bulgarian writer had become the simple illustrator of the directives of the Party and the Government, thereby volding current Bulgarian writings of any literary value. Karaslavov, who was nominated oat for the Union, was the only dissenter. 4. When the meeting was concluded, Ganev rose and said, "You are but evil gossipers," and left the meeting.					NO. OF PAGES	1
SOURCE EVALUATIONS ARE DEFINITIVE. APPRAISAL OF CONTENT IS TENTATIVE. 1. On 17 February 1955 a combined meeting of the executive of the Writers' Union, the Party committee of the Union, and Central Committee easiled the meeting because of rumors of impending withdrawal of a large group of writers from the Union. Among the participants at the meeting were Angel Karaliychev; Rudni Karov, former Partiteen and supporter of General Slaveho Trünski; Georgi Karaslavov, attorney for the Union; and Pavel Vetinov. 2. The discussion centered on the subject of the stringent censorship exercised by the Communist Party and the Party committee of the Union, and many writers expressed their fear of falling afoul of the customary censorship. The Party committee of the Union makes the first check by examining the work from the point of view of Communist ideelogy, following which it ascertains if the work contains any reference to failures of the Party throughout the years or if there is any offensive material against the Party leaders. The second stage is a check on the writer himself; his family origin, his past, and his development. 3. Vetinov, who lead one group in the discussion, expressed himself in hitting terms: "Bulgarian literature has failed because it is lending itself as a vehicle of propagenda for a certain way of life." Another in his group stated that the Bulgarian writer had become the simple illustrator of the directives of the Party and the Government, thereby voiding current Bulgarian writings of any literary value. Karsalavov, who was nominated to act for the Union, was the only dissenter. 4. When the meeting was concluded, Genev rose and said, "You are but evil gossipers," and left the meeting.	ATE OF IN	: O.			REQUIREMENT NO.	RD		25)
1. On 17 February 1955 a combined meeting of the executive of the Writers' Union, the Party committee of the Union, and Central Committee member Dimitific Ganev was held in Sofia. The Party Central Committee called the meeting because of rumors of impending withdrawal of a large group of writers from the Union. Among the participents at the meeting were Angel Karaliychev; Rudmi Karov, former Partisan and supporter of General Slaveho Trinski; Georgi Karalavov, attorney for the Union; and Pavel Vetinov. 2. The discussion centered on the subject of the stringent censorship exercised by the Communist Party and the Party committee of the Union, and many writers expressed their fear of falling afoul of the customary censorship. The Party committee of the Union makes the first check by examining the work from the point of view of Communist ideology, following which it ascertains if the work contains any reference to failures of the Party throughout the years or if there is any offensive material against the Party leaders. The second stage is a check on the writer himself; his family origin, his past, and his development. 3. Vetinov, who lead one group in the discussion, expressed himself in biting terms: "Bulgarian literature has failed because it is lending itself as a vehicle of propaganda for a certain way of life." Another in his group stated that the Bulgarian writer had become the simple illustrator of the directives of the Party and the Government, thereby voiding current Bulgarian writings of any literary value. Karsalavov, who was nominated to act for the Union, was the only dissenter. 4. When the meeting was concluded, Ganev rose and said, "You are but evil gossipers," and left the meeting.	LACE ACQ	IRED			REFERENCES
1. On 17 February 1955 a combined meeting of the executive of the Writers' Union, the Party committee of the Union, and Central Committee member Dimittir Genew was held in Sofia. The Party Central Committee called the meeting because of rumors of impending withdrawal of a large group of writers from the Union. Among the participants at the meeting were Angel Karaliychev; Rudni Karov, former Partisan and supporter of General Slavdho Trünski; Georgi Karaalavov, attorney for the Union; and Pavel Vetinov. 2. The discussion centered on the subject of the stringent censorship exercised by the Communist Party and the Party committee of the Union, and many writers expressed their fear of falling afoul of the customery censorship. The Party committee of the Union makes the first check by examining the work from the point of view of Communist ideology, following which it ascertains if the work contains any reference to fallings of the Party throughout the years or if there is any offensive material against the Party throughout the years or if there is any offensive material against the Party leaders. The second stage is a check on the writer himself; his family origin, his past, and his development. 3. Vetinov, who lead one group in the discussion, expressed himself in bitting terms: "Bulgarian literature has failed because it is lending itself as a vehicle of propaganda for a certain way of life." Another in his group stated that the Bulgarian writer had become the simple illustrator of the directives of the Party and the Government, thereby voiding current Bulgarian writings of any literary value. Karaslavov, who was nominated to act for the Union, was the only dissenter. 4. When the meeting was concluded, Ganev rose and said, "You are but evil gossipers," and left the meeting.	ATE ACQL	RED			This is UNEVALUATED	O Information
Union, the Party committee of the Union, and Central Committee member Dimittin Ganev was held in Sofia. The Party Central Committee called the meeting because of rumors of impending withdrawal of a large group of writers from the Union. Among the participants at the meeting were Angel Karaliychev; Rudni Karov, former Partisan and supporter of General Slavcho Trünski; Georgi Karaslavov, attorney for the Union; and Pavel Vetinov. 2. The discussion centered on the subject of the stringent censorship exercised by the Communist Party and the Party committee of the Union, and many writers expressed their fear of falling afoul of the customary censorship. The Party committee of the Union makes the first check by examining the work from the point of view of Communist ideology, following which it ascertains if the work contains any reference to failures of the Party throughout the years or if there is any offensive material against the Party leaders. The second stage is a check on the writer himself; his family origin, his past, and his development. 3. Vetinov, who lead one group in the discussion, expressed himself in bitting terms: "Bulgarian literature has falled because it is lending itself as a vehicle of propaganda for a certain way of life." Another in his group stated that the Bulgarian writer had become the simple illustrator of the directives of the Party and the Government, thereby voiding current Bulgarian writings of any literary value. Karaslavov, who was nominated to act for the Union, was the only dissenter. 4. When the meeting was concluded, Ganev rose and said, "You are but evil gossipers," and left the meeting.		sol	JRCE EVALU	ATIONS ARE DEFINITIVE.	APPRAISAL OF CONTENT IS TE	NTATIVE.
4. When the meeting was concluded, Ganev rose and said, "You are but evil gossipers," and left the meeting.	2. 5	imitur (eeting l riters i ngel Kan lavcho l avel Vei he discu	Ganev was because of from the raliychev Trunski; tinov. ussion ce i by the	sheld in Sofia. The frumors of impending Union. Among the programmer, Rudni Karov, form Georgi Karaslavov, antered on the subjections of the Subje	ne Party Central Committed ing withdrawal of a large participants at the meet mer Partisan and support attorney for the Union; ect of the stringent cent in the Party committee of	ee called the ee group of ing were er of General and sorship the Union,	25X1	٠.
S_E_C_R_E_T	3. 1	ensorshi xamining hich it arty the he Party is famila etinov, iting to teelf as n his grandlustrate oiding of	ip. The g the wor ascertain roughout y leaders ly origin who leaders a vehic roup stattor of the current E	Party committee of the from the point of the work continue if the work continue if the years or if the the years or if the the years, and his tone group in the dulgarian literature the of propaganda for the dulgarian writings of the the directives of the the grain writings of the the years.	the Union makes the fire view of Communist ideo cains any reference to fore is any offensive materials a check on the write development. discussion, expressed his has failed because it for a certain way of life can writer had become the Party and the Government of any literary value.	he customary st check by logy, following ailures of the erial against er himself; mself in is lending " Another e simple nt, thereby Karaslavov.
	3. \\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\	ensorshi xamining hich it arty the he Party is famila etinov, iting to the his gall llustration of ding of ho was a	ip. The g the wor ascertain roughout y leaders ly origin who leaders a vehicle roup stattor of the current Emminated meeting	Party committee of the from the point of the work continue if the work continue if the years or if the the years or if the the years or if the interest of the group in the dulgarian literature the of propaganda for the that the Bulgarian writings of the the directives of the the directives of the the directives of the the directive of the the directive of the was concluded, Ganewas concluded co	the Union makes the fire view of Communist ideo cains any reference to fore is any offensive materials a check on the write development. discussion, expressed his has failed because it for a certain way of life is an writer had become the Party and the Government of any literary value.	he customary st check by logy, following ailures of the erial against er himself; mself in is lending " Another e simple nt, thereby Karaslavov, ter.		25

INFORMATION REPORT - SPORMATION